

ONE-TO-ONE SUPPORT FOR PROS

At deMastery, we've been working with teams, businesses, and individuals across the globe, improving their performance by unlocking their potential, and helping them set the right path to their objectives. We also believe that coaching has the ability to change not only lives, but careers.

In 2011, our founder was in an in-house position and wasn't sure what her next steps to take. Then, she started consulting with an advisor, who assisted her in finding an avenue to move ahead.

The results on her career were shocking. Based on the knowledge she gained from her experience, she proceeded to establish an in-between deMastery practice that grew quickly, and shortly thereafter she was fast-tracked to a director-level position within an FTSE 100 firm.

Additionally, once she understood its importance, she enrolled to become a coach. With the new skills she acquired, she improved her team's performance as well as helped the leaders create their own distinctive ways of communicating. Each time, it was able to uncover new and untapped possibilities within the company.
